Wait and See.

When my boy, with eager questions,
Asking how, and where, and when,
Taxes all my store of wisdom,
Asking o'er and o'er again
Questions oft to which the answers
Gives to others still the key,
I have said, to teach him patience,
"Wait, my little boy, and see."

And the words I taught my darling
Taught to me a lesson sweet;
Once when all the world seemed darkened,
And the storm about me beat;
In the children's room I heard him,
With a child's sweet mimicry,
To the baby brother's questions
Saying wisely, "Wait and see."

Like an angel's tender chiding
Came the darling's words to me,
Though my father's ways were hidden,
Bidding me still wait and see.
What are we but restless children,
Ever asking what shall be?
And the Father in his wisdom,
Gently bids us "Wait and see."

My First Love Letter.

Have I ever told you, Nell, of my first love-letter? I presume not. It is a story I have not been very fond of telling. But years bring to me, if not philosophy, a comfortable sense of the comical in regard to all early illusions and dis-illusions.

The moment of opening and reading the first love-letter is a thrilling, and august point of time, in which all the spring tides of passionate young life seem to meet in a swift, dazzying whirl of emotion. If from the right man, what triumphant joy! If from a suitor one cannot smile on, what sweet pain! But you know all about it, dear.

I was very young when I received my first love-letter—indeed, not permanently out of short frocks and the bread-and-butter age.

Having lived the greater portion of my life in the country, the companion of my brothers, I was a desperate romp and gypsy, delighting to roam the fields and the woods, preferring the fishing-rod to the needle, and even the stable to the parlor. As yet, a fine horse was the rival of all mankind in my young affections. Still I had read Scott, Edgeworth, Hemans and L. E. L., with an occasional stealthy dip into Byron, and had my own foolish little romantic dreams of my hero, my fairy prince, who was to come in Love's good time.

I used to dream of him, as I sat like little Ellie, among the alders, with my feet in the brook, or as I rode alone in the woods. I thought little of his pedigree, but I resolved that he must have a patrician Greek profile, dark blue eyes, and black, curling hair, coming down on his lofty brow in a Byron peak. I made no account of houses or lands in Love's Arcadia; but my hero must possess a fine horse. The "steed of steeds" was a sine qua non.

Our removal from country to town was an absolute sorrow to me, with my nature-loving heart, and wild, free habits. I hated the busy monotony, the thronged loneliness, the dull whirl of city life. I could only console myself with occasional flights back into my old rural haunts. From the longest, roughest tramps I returned refreshed, prepared to endure what I could not cure.

I "came out" prematurely and temporarily when I was scarcely fifteen, on the occasion of a large wedding party. I wore a long dress and white kid gloves for the first time. My hair was curled. Oh, the torture of a night and the hideousness of a day in curl-papers! I wore natural flowers and carried a huge bouquet.

Distressingly diffident, not to say awkward, I early in the evening retired to a deep window-seat, where I remained watching the merry groups of wedding guests, and listening to their easy chatter, with childish wonder and delight.

Among the gayest of the gay was a certain fair young lady, whom I had known for some time as my double. Not that she was in the least like me. She was a blonde—very much blonde—while I was a very brunette. She was distinguished for sumptuousness of attire, and dress was not then, anymore than it is now, my besetting sin, or peculiar virtue, whichever you incline to esteem it. But oddly enough, the fair lady bore my name precisely, surname and baptismal. I used to think the circumstance annoyed her, almost as though I had stolen the fashion of her Parisian bonnet, or the pattern of her costly embroidered shawl. Aside from the name, there was little in common between us, certainly no love. At this party she quite outshone the bride. I found it curious to watch her.

"Her lightness and brightness did shine with such splendor,"

Which was all very proper, she being a rich tallow-chandler's daughter.

But not long did I watch my double, for, my dear, at the very party I saw him—my ideal hero—my fairy prince. From all that goodly company I singled him out at a glance. There were the dark blue eyes, there was the Greek profile, the black curly hair, the Byron peak and all.

Imagine the emotions of your friend when to her secluded window-seat this very young gentleman was brought and presented as "Mr. John Trevalyan." If it wasn't just Trevalyan, it was quite as respectable a name. The John I'll stand by.

Well, he stood by me and talked to me for a bright, wondrous half hour, precisely as though I had been a full-grown belle; and I, under the spell of his pleasant flattery, fell in with the little make-believe, and chatted away, quite at ease, and said some things that were really not so bad. Yet, when I spoke, it seemed to me it was some one else talking in a second double. My very voice had an unfamiliar sound.

Mr. Trevalyan talked of poetry, art, music, and flowers, in a low, sweet, beguiling, particular way after the manner of his kind. He said, of all the fine arts, his enthusiasm was decidedly for sculpture, "so cold, so pure, so exalted," and he begged to know if I shared his esthetic preference. I suppose, if I had been properly trained, for a year or two older, I might have answered; "I am enraptured with music—Beethoven, Mozart, Henry Russell, and the Seguins: I dearly love art—Titian, Michael Angelo, and Benjamin West; but I adore poetry—Milton, Byron, and N. P. Willis."

As it was, with a desperately honest impulse, I replied:

"I admire art and music, poetry, and all such things, but I don't know much about them yet. To tell the plain truth, my particular enthusiasm is—just horses! I suppose it's perverse and improper, and all that; but I do know something about horses, and I love them."

My hero smiled, in a beaming, indulgent way, and declared that he participated in my enthusiasm—that his love for horses amounted to quite a passion, and that he flattered himself he owned the fastest trotter in all that region.

Ah! at that moment, to quote from dear Miss Bremer, "our souls met."

Mysterious sympathy of passionate young hearts!

His eyes upon a nearer view, were gray, but their expression was full of poetic sensibility. They beamed with that tender deference, half wistful, half wicked, hardest of all looks for even "little women" to resist. I suspect the fellow knew it. They all do.

There was, now and then, a mysterious shade of sadness over his brow—an interesting, Lara-like frown that came and went in that festive hour. I divined that young as he was, he had had grave thoughts and ambitions, great sorrows and sins, or meant to have them, which was all the same.

At parting, he begged from my bouquet a sprig of geranium, which he placed in his button-hole "for remembrance." Then he asked leave to visit me, which I graciously accorded. Then we murmured our adieu.

I went home with my head among the stars. My dear, absurd as it may seem, I really believed I had that night met my destiny, and met it on the whole, in a very satisfactory shape.

I did not know just when to look for my admirer, but I was ready for him, morning and evening. I grew strangely careful of my dress. I assiduously brushed and curled my hair. I applied cosmetics to my sun burnt face. I slept in kid gloves.

These alarming symptoms were not unnoticed by my tender mother; but she noticed that my manner had grown quiet and maidenly, and took great comfort thereat.

Six days I waited in vain. The seventh—magic number! brought—not him, but a letter. It was a dainty-looking missive, all rose-tinted and gilt edged. This was before the time of envelopes—a remoge age bordering on the "Drift Period," you may think, in the insolence of your nineteen summers.

It was directed—this letter of letters—in one of those rearing Italian hands once so fashionable. It was sealed with lilac-colored wax, and the seal bore the motto—how well I remember it, though I didn't in the least know what it meant then—of "Toujours fidele."

With my heart beating into my finger-tips I broke the seal—I opened the letter. The very first line was something startling, unequivocal: "My dearest Love!"

Without waiting to read another word I turned the leaf to look at the signature: "Oh, my prophetic soul!" it was "John Trevalyan!"

I made no copy of that letter, and found memory has been a little unfaithful in regard to the exact wording. I know that I read it with great satisfaction—in especial, a lover-like inventory which it contained of my most amiable and admirable characteristics. There were things set down there that I had supposed known only to myself.

Toward its close the letter assumed a practical tone, "I will with your leave," it ran, "call on your father in a day or two. In the meantime, love, perhaps you had better confide our dear secret to no one unless it be your brother Tom."

Ah, heavens! the letter was not for me. Alas! I had no "brother Tom."

Providence had been bountiful in sons to our house. Our cup had run over with that particular sort of blessing, but the respectable name of Thomas had somehow never struck my mother's roving fancy. At the baptismal font she had never given it in.

Fatal omission!

"Madam, you might have saved me from this."

I resealed that letter. I sent it with all dispatch and a courteous apology to my double, now my rival. I was wretched, but I could not be base.

Yes, she married my John. After that, I got no more of her letters, which was some consolation.

No, she was not pretty—even on her wedding day, but she was charmingly dressed.

John still lives. He has no longer the Byron expression; but the Byron peak on his brow is more pronounced than ever. Of all the beautiful enthusiasm of his youth, that for fast horses alone remains. He has, I believe, never been so unhappy or wicked as he promised to be, though, for a time, he fell into evil ways and was sent to the Legislature.

My double has made several visits to Paris, and has grown fonder and more au fait of dress than ever. As she has no children, she gives her whole mind to it "but that's not much."

I never could think her the companion for John in intellect and soul. I never in truth, could help thinking that if I had had a fair start with her—if I had had her clothes—if I had had her brother Tom—it might have—but, ah—

"Of all the sad words of tongue or pen
The saddest are these: 'It might have been.'"

—Grace Greenwood.

A GIRL who will sit with a fellow all night on the stairs, at a ball, with no clothes on above her waist, to speak of, would faint dead away if the same fellow were to meet her on the stairs, muffled from head to foot, in three night-gowns. Curious, isn't it?—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Adams, Jackson and Clay.

[From a Lecture by Secretary Thompson.]

He proposed to speak of three dead statesmen, with whom he had been personally acquainted, and whose public life he had witnessed. They were selected because they represented three distinct types of character, and each of whom were great in their particular sphere. Whatever their contemporaries, in the heat and bitterness of party conflict, had said about them, now that we can view their characters and deeds through this unbiased medium of history, their claim to the first rank among American statesmen will not be disputed. Adams, Jackson, and Clay, names which roused the fiercest passions and evoked the bitterest invectives from the minds inflamed by the rancor of political contests. There is a point of difference, as well as resemblance, with these three men, arising from their dissimilar family and social relations. Adams descended from an old and wealthy family; in early life came under the influence of education and the associations of a well-regulated and law-abiding community. Jackson and Clay, born in poverty, without early advantages, were compelled in a wild, unsettled community, where the scenes shifted according to the passing passion, to seek that fortune which was not theirs by inheritance. They were all men of marked ability. Adams, of a cautious, deliberate nature, with almost the appearance of timidity. But it was only in appearance—that he was combative his opponents have good reason to know. Outwardly cold, his passions were violent, smoldering within like the pent-up fire of a volcano. Jackson and Clay were men made in the same mould, men conscious that they were born to rule, and men who were inspired with such a sublimity of patriotism that they were ready to sacrifice their lives upon the altar of their country. I served with Adams in the House during the twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth Congress. I saw him die at his desk like a mediæval knight with his armor on. One scene in his life brings out fully the man's character. It was in that celebrated trial for treason in 1842. Adams was a firm supporter of the right of petition, and when he was asked to present a petition looking to the dissolution of the Union, he did so, because he held that all petitioners had at least the right to be heard. For this he was charged with treason and arraigned for trial. Against him were arrayed Marshall, Gilmore and Wise, men of pre-eminent and acknowledged ability as orators and debaters. In the long excited debate which followed, Adams, with the mature ability of a giant, laid his opponents in the dust, and achieved the proudest triumph of his life.

The first time I saw Jackson was at the celebration of the battle of New Orleans, at Nashville, Tennessee. He then impressed me as I saw him on horseback, as one whom nature had stamped as a nobleman. He was a great man with a kind heart, the truest of friends, unswerving in duty. If he committed errors it was not from a disinclination to do what was right. The number of persons now living who were personally acquainted with Clay is growing less every year, and his fame now rests with the historian. From a perusal of his speeches, it may be difficult to understand the power which he wielded. Even we, whose hearts were touched and played upon by his burning eloquence, cannot describe his power to others. Clay never studied oratory; his eloquence was the blaze of an internal fire. Hence, his set speeches do not give a fair idea of his power. He needed the stimulant of a great occasion in order to rise to the full height of his power. The lecturer closed with an eloquent flight on the power of the orator.

Important to Travelers—What to do With Your Baggage.

It is quite customary for people traveling by rail, and occupying apartments or seats in parlor cars, to take, at least, a portion of their baggage along with them in the car. When they go out for refreshment at a station, they leave their baggage, generally without any special protection. By a recent decision in England, it would seem that baggage thus situated is at the risk of the owner, and, if it is lost or stolen, the railroad company will not be held liable.

The suit was for the recovery of damages for the loss of a travelling-bag. The plaintiff took this bag to the station, and placed it along with some other things in a first-class carriage in which he and his wife were to travel. He asked the porter if the things would be safe while he and his wife went to luncheon, and was told they would be. They then went out to get something to eat, and on their return to the car, just as the train was starting, the plaintiff discovered that the bag was gone. The Court held that a common carrier was liable for all goods placed absolutely under his control, but as the plaintiff had requested to have his bag placed in the car where he was to travel, or at least assented to its being placed there, the company could not be held to have been absolute insurers of the goods.

From this it will be perceived that the only safe way is to have baggage put in the baggage-car and checked, thus placing it under the absolute control of the company, or else to keep a strict watch of it if is taken into a passenger-car. An assurance from some one in the employ of the company that it is safe avails nothing in the event of its loss. The strict and long-established rule which holds common carriers liable in most every case, does not apply where the owner of the property chooses to retain it at least partially in his own keeping.—N. Y. Ledger.

Two French chemists, Messrs. Fremy and Feil, have succeeded in producing artificial rubies and sapphires, which the watchmakers are said to pronounce better for their purposes than the natural stones. These gems are varieties of aluminum, and by combining this metal with other matter, and subjecting the compound to an intense heat for a considerable period, crystals are formed.

Scarlet Fever.

DR. GOODENOUGH.

Scarlet Fever, otherwise known as Scarletina, is usually classed with small-pox, chicken-pox and measles, among the eruptive forms of fever; but it is distinguished from these by the fact that the eruption appears as a rash, whereas in the other diseases it assumes the form of vesicles or postules. It is one of the most contagious of maladies, and the infectious material remains for a long time in clothing, etc., preserving the power of producing the disease. Children are much more liable to it than adults, and it is rarely contracted under two years of age or over forty. As a rule the disease is experienced only once, but to this rule there are many exceptions. Between the reception of the infection and the manifestation of the disease, the interval is generally short, sometimes not more than twenty-four hours and rarely so long as a week.

Sometimes the disease commences with a chill, and vomiting is generally one of the earliest symptoms, especially in children. A high fever at once sets in, the pulse flutters rapidly, the body often feels burning to the touch, while the temperature under the arm frequently rises to 105 deg. or even higher. In this, as in all other fevers, an extremely high temperature is a pretty sure indication of imminent danger to life, and if it remains for any length of time over 105 deg. death is always to be apprehended. In about twenty-four hours after the commencement of the attack the eruption appears, first in the neck, next on the breast and stomach, and finally on the limbs, covering the entire body generally in a couple of days. The rash is of a scarlet color, and is sometimes diffused over the entire body, while in other cases it is limited to blotches varying in number and size.

In mild cases of scarlet fever, it will be enough to lessen the animal heat by sponging the body, giving cooling drinks, and applying such alleviating remedies as the symptoms may suggest. In severe cases the use of the cold bath is highly beneficial, or the patient should be wrapped in a wet sheet and well covered with blankets until perspiration starts, when he should be washed off in milk-warm water. This should be repeated as often as a very high fever sets in; and in case the fever strikes in suddenly, the patient should be sponged in cold water all over. Rubbing the body with fat bacon or some oily preparation allays the itching and, many think, lessens the severity of the disease. If the symptoms indicate a failure of the vital powers, alcholic stimulants should be used. When the patient becomes convalescent, extreme care should be taken to guard against cold and thus lessen the risk of disease of the kidneys, which as often follows mild as severe cases of this complaint. No visits should be made, especially by children, to houses where the disease is prevalent, the children of the afflicted family should not be allowed to attend school, and so endanger others, and care should be taken to disinfect or destroy everything which may retain or convey the infection.

PLAIN TALK TO A GIRL.—Your every-day toilet is a part of your character. A girl who looks like a "fury" or a slovenly in the morning is not to be trusted, however finely she may look in the evening. No matter how humble your room may be, there are eight things it should contain, viz: a mirror, washstand, soap, towel, comb, hair, nail and tooth brushes. These are just as essential as your breakfast, before which you should make good and free use of them. Parents who fail to provide their children with such appliances not only make a great mistake, but commit a sin of omission. Look tidy in the morning, and after the dinner work is over improve your toilet. Make it a rule of your daily life to "dress up" in the afternoon. Your dress may or may not be anything better than calico, but with a ribbon or flower, or some bit of ornament, you can have an air of self-respect and satisfaction that invariably comes with being well-dressed.

CHARLOTTE RUSSE.—One quart of milk, six ounces of sugar, two ounces of isinglass. Put all into a sauce-pan and on the stove. When dissolved take it off and strain through a sieve; then put it on ice until it begins to set and then add one cup of wine and flavor to taste. When it begins to set take one quart of cream; beat it to a stiff froth and stir it altogether. Then take Charlotte Russe moulds, line them with sponge-cake, with a large layer of jelly at the bottom; fill with the custard and set on ice for two hours.

FRENCH MUSTARD.—The ingredients frequently employed in making French mustard are flour of mustard, a little dried mint, or any other herb of that kind, and a little salt. These ingredients are mixed with the sweet must of wine. Vinegar may be used instead of the must, but in this case the best white-wine vinegar must be procured.

PHILADELPHIA CAKE.—Melt a quarter of a pound of butter in new milk and stir it into two pounds of dry flour, three tablespoonfuls of yeast and two well-beaten eggs. Cover the dough with a coarse towel, and set in a warm place to rise. When light knead it into cakes, and bake them in well-buttered tins.

DOUGHNUTS WITHOUT EGGS.—One pint buttermilk, one cup sugar, one teaspoonful salt, one of allspice, one of soda dissolved in the buttermilk, flour to mix soft. When your lard is hot pare a medium-sized potato, slice thin, and fry in lard till brown; remove and fry cakes and they will not soak lard.

OYSTER CAKES.—Boil the oyster-plant until it can be mashed with a spoon, scraping each piece carefully before cooking; mash through a sieve. Beat eggs very light, in the proportion of one egg to a teacupful of vegetable; beat well together, forming balls, with well-floured hands, and fry brown.

To exclude all light is the secret of keeping dried fruits.

SOMETHING THAT MUST BE DONE.

We of Winters and vicinity must have a College. There is no question nor "ifs" about it. We now have over two hundred children right in town and the immediate vicinity. These children must be educated. We have no time to put in any "ifs"—the very life of our town depends upon it. We have plenty of wealth in town and the immediate vicinity of town to endow a college, so that the tuition would be very low. We have plenty of willing hands and open purses that will come nobly up to the front on any educational project; men who are wealthy and, by reason of their associations, see the crying evil of ignorance and vice, and the want of education. We have understood that one of our excellent ministers was moving in the good work. Go on, brother; and rest assured that our shoulder will always be at the wheel. More of this.

Editorial Notes.

We cry hard times. But we say there is nothing wrong with the times. Must we sit supinely down and echo the cry; this will not mend matters. We, as a people, must put forth a united effort to bring our State back again to prosperity. Our suffering is not caused for want of the elements of success; the trouble is this: We lack the industry, virtue and economy requisite to success. We must quit gambling and wild speculation and become more industious and economical.

Now that we are all planting orange trees in this vicinity, and as they cost pretty high, it stands us in hand to plant them right. Select as sheltered a place as possible; plant in saddy, loamy land—if not to be had on the farm or garden, use rotten manure—don't be afraid of digging the holes too deep or large; fill up with rotten manure and sand mixed; have the land well drained. You can plant them up to June 1st, being careful to keep them well watered.

THE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION.

The bill calling a Constitutional Convention, received the Governor's signoture yesterday, and thus that question is so far settled. The election of delegates to the Convention will be held in June, and the Convention will assemble on the 28th of September, and will sit as long as it pleases. There is plenty of time to make good and trustworthy selections, but experience has shown that unless the people take action without delay it is of no advantage to them to have plenty of time in which to act. Delegates to a Constitution Convention ought to be chosen for their solid merits, and not for their superficial talents. Brilliant talkers are not at all likely to be the best kind of Constitution makers, and demagogues are perfectly certain to be the worst. Sober, steady, experienced men and men with a stake in the country should be chosen in preference. Party politics ought to have no influence in the matter, since they can have no bearing upon the work of the Convention. There never was more need of careful choice than at the present time, and ever community, large or small, will do well to begin looking about for its most available men.—Sac. Record-Union.

We despise to accuse a high-toned paper of taking our editorials, but this is our's of a few weeks ago and we thank the Union man for giving it such prominence.—ED.

The citizens of Berryessa will petition the Legislature to be annexed to Solano. Among those signing it are Sim Buford, Bottorff, Kinley and Clark. The reasons urged for the steps are that Berryessa has been taxed year after year for expenditures in Napa Valley and Napa City, but has received nothing in return.

Clippings from our Exchanges.

Fire at Pleasanton—loss about $6,000. Partially insured.

Rich quartz developments are reported in Wet Gulch claim, Jesus Maria district, Calaveras county.

There are about eighteen hydraulic claims in operation in and near Iowa Hill; also two cement mills.

The Ventura Free Press says: Universal verdict: The present is by all odds the worst Legislature ever convened in California. Go ahead, Kearney; you and the d——d fools that follow you can't send worse men than those."

The Utah Legislature has made it a misdemeanor for any one to salt a mine or give it a false assay, or exhibit a false sample applying to a given assay, or change an assay.

The Workingmen's party in this State is not new. Though it sprung up like a mushroom in the night, it was yet the result of years and years of indignities, of wrongs, of oppression.—Chronicle.

The House of Assembled Wisdom at Sacramento adjourned on All Fools Day. If the fool-killer had passed that way on that day, what a slaughter of innocents there would have been.—S. F. Chronicle.

At the close of the sitting of the Illinois House of Representatives, the Clerk read the following: "I am requested to announce that Rev. Dr. McFarland will deliver a lecture in the hall on idiots, this evening. Members of the Legislatureare invited to attend."

The Secretary of the Navy has definitely concluded to establish a rolling mill at Mare Island Navy Yard, to utilize the scrap iron about the yard, of which there are several thousand tons capable of being converted into excellent bar iron, etc.

The railroad men have run across the bottomless pit, on the line of railroad near Benicia. Workmen have been engaged for several weeks, and at present about 500 men are engaged in trying to fill this hole. The work of a day recedes during the night.

One of our school teachers, a young, unmarried gentleman, becoming exasperated at the repeated disobedience of a seven-year-old girl, laid her across his knee, and, raising her skirts, gave her a good spanking in the old, orthodox style. After being released, the little one blurted out between her sobs: "if I was ten years older you wouldn't do that!"—Elko Post.

"Papa," said a married daughter of forty summers, "why do they allow those horrid laboring men to make speeches? I should think the Mayor of San Francisco would stop them." "Alas, my child, this is a free country, and they can do as they please." The papa was born and bred a shoemaker—but he made a fortune by speculation, and now wonders what mechanics want that they make such a fuss.

Mount Auburn (Cincinnati) enjoys the distinction of possessing, probably, the most diminutive passenger steam railroad in the United States. It is 10½ inches guage, and the motive power is a locomotive of the prevailing pattern (Grant) whose boiler is 3½ feet long and driver 8 inches in diameter. The engine draws a tender and five cars, each car running upon four-wheeled trucks and holding two people.

OUR COUNTY.

This is almost exclusively an agricultural county, situated in the Sacramento Valley. The products are wheat, barley, oats and other grains, of which immense crops are raised. The soil is equal to any in California and produces a superior quality of grapes and other fruit. The wool clip is large. Area, 1,150 square miles. Excellent market and transportation facilities. 137,995 acres were cultivated in 1876. In wheat 122,695 acres, yielding 2,322,269 bushels; in barley 18,559 acres, yielding 40,062 bushels; in hay 16,122 acres, yielding 27,206 'ons; 519 acres of grape vines yielded 138,-150 gallons of wine and 4,250 gallons of brandy. Population, 11,-500.

Says the Solano Republican: Coroner White picked up a very peculiar device for a dark lantern, near the house where Chris Weihmiller was murdered. It was a small salve vial with a wide neck, in the bottom of which was a candle nearly burnt out. He found it in the yard, near the house, and it was the property of the murderers, who had cast it aside. It has been discovered that the tracks noticed in the cellar and around the house lead in a roundabout way to a certain house.

Gents' clothing and furnishing goods at cost. Call early, while the stock is complete.—Blum & Co. *

YOUNG MEN

WHO MAY BE SUFFERING FROM the effect of youthful follies or indiscretion, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. DR. SPINNEY will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of seminal weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty who are troubled with too frequent evacuation of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits a ropy sediment will often be found and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, or the color will be of a thin milkish hue, again changing to dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. DR. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration of the genito-urinary organs.

OFFICE HOURS—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Hours from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice $5.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SACRAMENTO AS A TRADE CENTER.

The business men of Sacramento, as well as all her people, have now the firmest confidence in her future greatness. She has withstood the greatest flood on record in this valley, and has demonstrated beyond a question that with the careful measures being adopted for the perpetuity of her system of levees, she is forever safe from the ravages of the waters.

How and Why She can Supply Goods of Every Description Cheaper than They can be Bought in San Francisco.

We answer—Because she has advantages possessed by no other locality—saving in freight charges, no wharf rates, low rents and light expense. Her merchants buy direct from the large manufactories of the East and have the goods shipped by rail to their doors.

Sacramento contains some of the oldest and most firmly established mercantile houses on this coast—including everything in the line of groceries, hardware, agricultural implements, paints and oils, stationery, crockery, liquors, drugs, clothing, carpets, gas fittings, jewelry, woodenware and earthenware, furniture, stoves and tinware, boots and shoes, etc.

Her manufactures are extensive and varied, including carriages and wagons, machinery, brass work, pails and tubs, boxes, brooms and matches, plows, harness, cloths, gloves, confectionery, pottery, iron work, sashes, doors, etc., soap, yeast powder, marble works, pumps, windmills, fanning mills, leather, etc.

Her lumber yards are among the most extensive in the State; her foundries and machine shops among the best; her breweries numerous and good; in fact there is not a line of business which may be mentioned which is not represented in Sacramento.

She possesses many fine dry goods houses, clothing houses, millinery shops, fancy goods stores, etc., her book and news depots are of the best. She possesses every facility for doing any style of printing and binding. No better hotels or markets can be found anywhere.

SALUTATORY.

In assuming control of the local columns of the ADVOCATE, we admit that it is with some misgiving on our part. Not but what our talent is equal to the occasion. Not but what we are certain that our subscription list will soon be doubled. Not but what we shall faithfully chronicle the number of pigs owned by all the Majors and Captains in our vicinity, and herald to the world the exact manner in which Miss Jinks wears her back hair, and the hour she feeds her poodle. But here's our trouble, we're afraid of getting "licked." We once run a newspaper eighteen months and just how many suits were pending against us at the time our physician advised a change of air, we never knew; but one thing we do know a Dutchman licked us. Ah, yes, we shall always cherish this in our memory. All the provocation we gave was the simple item that he was a sheep thief, and that his mother was a witch and pirate and died of a broken heart because her son would not raise above the common call of stealing sheep.

AFFRAY AT VACAVILLE.—At an entertainment given at the Vacaville College the other day, it seems that Prof. Rehena spoke a little curtly to a Miss Dobbins for some little breach of the rules of the school. This it seems offended the young lady, who informed her father, one Dr. Dobbins, whereupon the Doctor flew into a violent passion, and meeting the Prof. on the bridge near the College, he without any warning whatever proceeded to belabor the Prof. over the head with a stout cane knocking him down and beating him after he was down, in what most men would call rather a cowardly manner. The Doctor should be a little careful with his little stick, as he might tackel a pug nosed American freeman one of these days that would put a first-class mansard roof over his weather eye, and otherwise ornament his classic main top gallants.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ORGANIZATION.—The members of the Church of Christ and others met at the Christian Church in Winters, Sunday evening, for the purpose of organizing a Sunday School. The meeting was called to order by C. H. Wolfe; S. B. Dunton was elected Chairman and this resolution adopted: "Resolved, That this school shall be known as the Christian Sabbath School." The following officers were elected: S. B. Dunton, Superintendent, and V. Morris, Assistant Superintendent; Miss V. Harling, Secretary. There being no further business, the meeting adjourned, to meet again next Sunday evening, at half-past three o'clock.

V. HARLING, Secretary.

RETURN THE BOOKS.—About three weeks since, a request was preferred through the columns of the ADVOCATE to those parties who had taken the hymn and tune books from the C. P. church, that they would return the same, as they were expressly ordered for the use of the congregation during service, and not to be taken from the church. Out of 37 copies missing, but five have been returned, and it is hoped that ladies and gentlemen having the same in their possession, will return them without delay.

APRIL FOOL.—Some of our fun loving citizens placed a "Dummy" woman on the railroad track on the first, although she was dressed in all the glory of a "pull back," and placed in that agonizing position known as the "dive," for her surplus trailing skirts, the engineer only put on "more steam" instead of whistling down brakes. We guess the telegraph spoiled the joke.

PIC-NIC.—Everybody should attend the picnic at Washington Park, Dixon, to-day (Saturday.) Every conceivable arrangement has been made for the enjoyment of those who attend, and everything is free. We acknowledge the receipt of a season complimentary ticket, to attend the pic nics at Washington Park. We are obliged to Mr. Geo. Frahm for the favor.

NOTICE TO THE LADIES.—You can buy all kinds of Summer dress goods at 25 per cents below cost at Blum & Co. *

Brevities.

Streets drying up; trade improving.

Hard work and poor pay.

Col. Russell has one of the finest fig orchards that we have seen in the State.

Our merchants are getting in new stocks.

The frisky fly again doth the can-can on the proboscis of the editor hereof.

Atwell was elected delegate to the Workingmen's State Convention.

Jack Campbell thinks of quitting draying and starting a circus with that filly.

First duster of the season made its appearance to-day.

Some of our ranting anti-Chinese citizens still hirath the festive moon-eyes.

Mr. Doering has erected a fine wind mill on his place.

Berryessa canyon road is being rapidly opened by the contractors.

F. B. Chandler has greatly improved the inside of his office.

Bush Stevenson is having his passenger cars nicely re-painted and varnished.

Mr. A. B. Nye of the Dixon Tribune was in town on Tuesday and honored us with a call.

Joseph Griffin's magnificent residence is now completed—one of the finest in the county.

Dr. W. H. Robinson, Dentist, is compelled by a rush of business to remain in Winters one week longer.

Bowen's Livery Stable starts to Main street to-day. Dr. Gregory talks of moving his office to Main street, also.

Dogs are getting thicker in the streets than bed bugs in a San Francisco lodging house.

The contract is let to erect a large wind-mill and tank, to water the north side of Main street.

Mansfield is having the front of his fine store painted and all the panel work grained. Mr. Moody, our Post Master, is following suit.

Mrs. Clark casually remarked, to-day, that a man that could not chop stove wood any better than THAT, ought not to pretend to edit a paper.

Vaca Valley Rail Road is now as good as new, and "Bush" is having his passenger cars nicely re varnished, preparatory to Summer business.

We notice large arrivals of goods daily, for Mansfield's store. This store has a most attractive appearance, and seems to be stocked with everything that can be called for.

The right thing in bonnets, this Spring, is a piece of velvet mucilaged inside, three inches by two and a half, trimmed a la porcupine, with a Yellow Hammer's head in front.

A merchant that don't advertise is like unto the deceived hen, that setteth long and patiently on the porcelain door knob. He may stay in his store forever, but no increase will be perceptible.

Comes now the festive mountebank and performs on the streets. How a man could display such agility and carry the load of dirt and "other things" that he did, is a mystery.

Ingersoll's teaching has reached Winters. A blossoming youth was caught stealing potatoes from one of our merchants, and when asked why he committed such a crime, replied: "I don't care; aint no hell, anyway.

Our exchanges are the personification of truth—to hear them tell the tale—but we will wage our interests in the chances of a 7 to 8 contest for the next Presidency that no local editor ever amounted to much without considerable lying.

Mr. James L. Fagan, from Downey City, Los Angeles county, who has been visiting his uncle, Mr. C. H. Wolfe, for the past week, left Winters, yesterday, for Missouri, for the improvement of his health. We wish him a safe and pleasant journey.

"Say, Pap," said a young hopeful to his father, one of our citizens, "what did you lick Jim for? He didn't 'play harrow with your false teeth; Ned done it." "Never mind," said Jim, "I calculate to fix my mouse trap with Pap's spec's, to-morrow, and he can just give me credit."

We are informed that the magnificent field of grain of Benjamin Ely, that was first threatened with drouth and then with floods, is now as fine a stand of grain as can be found in the county. "Uncle Ben" deserves it, as he is one of Nature's noblemen.

The Sheep men now chase h the sheep with much diligence, as shearing time approacheth. Some say that he that getteth the most sheep and violateth not the majesty of the law, and in no wise offendeth against the late California Legislature, is not only considered a good man, but even an exceeding wise man, yea, a fitting companion of the great Schuyler Colfax.

We went to Woodland the other day, and on every hand we saw the finest crops we ever saw in the State. When we got to town we saw several of the finest specimens of the genus "swell" that can be found outside of Montgomery street. One young man struck us as being so peculiarly fascinating that we offered to "go snacks" with him on the spot, and exhibit him at "two bits a look," to poetically inclined young ladies. To our astonishment he scornfully rejected the offer, remarking, "Fellow, do you take us for a circus?"

G. B. Stevenson has taken a contract from Samuel Falconer, to erect a fine two-story brick building on the lot immediately adjoining the Wilson Hotel, in Vacaville. The building, as per specification, will be one of the finest fire-proof building for its size in the State. It will be 32x75 feet, and will be fitted up in a superior manner. Mr. Mansfield will occupy the lower part for a store, and the Lodges I. O. G. T., and F. & A. M the second story. The building is to be ready for occupation July 15.

We regret very much to lose our enterprising firm of Blum & Co., from our town. While we regret their leaving we are pleased to note that their stock of goods are going very fast. In our stroll through the store we noticed some very large empty spaces in their shelves, this, however, is quite natural for they are selling their goods at and below cost, and people will seize the opportunity when they can to buy goods at and below San Francisco prices.

Grand May Day Excursion from Madison to Vacaville and Return.

Come, everybody. The entertainment is free and will be worth double the cost of tickets to any one wanting relaxation and rest. Bring your baskets and enjoy yourselves under the trees, on the College grounds. Rev. Dr. Taft will address you, followed by Hon. Joe McKenna. Workingmen and everybody else, lay aside your work for one day and patronize Mansfield and Stevenson—they are your friends. They have never employed a Chinaman in any capacity, and have always paid good wages, which is a noted exception to the average corporation.

THE POISON FOUNTAIN, OR ANTI-PARENTAL EDUCATION.—A book of about 200 pages, by Z Montgomery, beautiful, clear print, replete with facts showing the folly and we would almost say crime of sectarian schools. After reading this book, parents will be loth to entrust their loved ones to teachers whom they have never seen, and of whose moral or mental status they know nothing. Every parent should have a copy—price, $1 50. We concur with the author in his position that there is no education like home or parental education.

CITY MARSHAL OF WOODLAND.—Our esteemed friend, H. N Ogburn, of Woodland, informs us that he is a candidate for the position of City Marshal of that flourishing town. Mr. Ogburn is not only a good citizen and workingman, but he is in many respects peculiarly adapted to the position to which he aspires If Woodland never has a worse aspirant for public favor than Mr. Ogburn, she will never have occasion to cry reform: We hope he may receive the support he merits.

Legislature adjourned at Sacramento. The most important bills of the session, outside of giving away the people's money in a reckless manner to land pirates, were the bills conferring every power "under the sun" to the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, and the bill creating a peanut inspector for every town of more than one inhabitant. All the defect we see in that bill is that their compensation is not fixed by law, and the chances are the next Legislature will occupy most of its time passing relief bills fore the afore said inspectors.

Lake Democrat: Frank and Geo. Morine, who have been carrying on the business of counterfeiting half dollars, for some time, near Lower Lake, were arrested on the 17th inst., by Detective Finnegas, and taken to San Francisco for trial. The young men have succeeded in circulating a large number of these half dollars, which has made times quite lively at Lower Lake.

CANCER CAN BE CURED.

Cancer has from time immemorial been a great scourge to the human race, and is now becoming the greater. For many years it has been held by the medical profession, and generally believed by the people, that Cancer is incurable: that once its roots take hold upon a victim, there is no chance for a sufferer to escape a lingering and terrible death; a death surrounded by all that is disgusting and horrible, not only to the sufferer, but to his friends. Happily this fell destroyer need no longer to be feared. Dr. H. T. Bond, of Philadelphia, a well known physician, of large experience, has for years devoted himself to the special study and treatment of Cancer, and the result of his experience is his discovery for the radical cure of Cancer, without the use of either knife, caustic or plasters, and without pain.

The majority of persons are greatly deceived in regard to the first symptoms and appearance of this most dreaded disease, considering it painful from the commencement. This is a sad mistake, carrying thousands to an untimely grave. In most cases there is little or no pain until the disease is far advanced. The only symptoms for many months, and even for years, are occasionally a stinging, darting stabbing, shooting, smarting, itching, burning, crawling or creeping sensation, and in some cases not any of these. If a malady is growing worse instead of better, it is conclusive evidence it is of a malignant character, and demands immediate attention. If you have a branny, scaly, warty appearance, with an occasional breaking out of these upon the face, lip or nose, or any other portion of the skin, attended with any of the above symptoms, or a sensation of ally being on it, or a hair tickling it, is certain evidence it is Cancer, and there should be no delay in using Dr. Bond's treatment. Life is too valuable to be tampered with.

Dr. Bond's treatment consists of an "Antidote" that is applied locally; this at once arrests the growth of the cancer, and by chemical action neutralizes its malignity, rendering it harmless and changing it to a simple sore, which nature, assisted by constitutional remedies, soon heals, (when the skin is broken, and he Cancer is a hard tumor, the Antidote does not make an open sore, but removes it by absorption). In connection with the Antidote is used he Specific taken internally. This tones up the general health, strengthens the patient, purifies the blood, and eliminates the poison from the system. Dr. Bond's Anti Note contains neither caustic nor poison, and can be applied to the most delicate tissues of the body without injury, and therefore is the only remedy that can be used in internal Cancer, such as cancer of the stomach, cancer of the womb, etc. Dr. Bond's remedies, with full directions for successful treatment, will be sent to any part of the world.

"THE girls of our day are very badly educated," said one of the members of a committee on education to the Bishop of Gloucester. "That can not be denied," retorted his lordship. "However, there is one consolation, the boys will never find it out."

THE fairy tales of Hans Christian Andersen have been translated into Arabic, and Mr. Carlo Landburg, a Dane living in Upper Egypt, writes that they afford immense pleasure to the Arabs, who, after the Oriental fashion, sit in a group while one of their number reads aloud.

OCTAVE FEUILLET: Providence has so ordained it that only two women have a true interest in the happiness of a man —his own mother and the mother of his children. Besides those two legitimate kinds of love, there is nothing between the two creatures except vain excitement, painful and idle delusion.

THERE is a law in Brazil against the importation of negroes, in order to prevent the landing of slaves. As a Philadelphia contractor for building railroads in Brazil wishes to take with him colored laborers, Dom Pedro has made a concession in his favor, providing, however, that the colored men land as American citizens, furnished with passports.

PRESIDENT GRANT AND "OLD JANE."—It is one of the purest pleasures of great men to revisit the humble friends of their childhood who have not changed, and who never flatter.

Ex-President Grant, just before starting to Europe, in company with Commodore Ammen, paid a visit to Georgetown, Ohio. This town is the birthplace of the latter, and the home of the former, from the age of one year to seventeen—the time of his departure to West Point. After visiting the many points of interest, reviving the recollections of schoolboy days, they, in company with an old friend, called to see two of their old townswomen, called "Old Jane and Polly," where occurred the following:

"Jane, this is President Grant."

"What did you say?"

"This is President Grant—President of the United States."

"Who? Lys Grant? Laws, how you've growed!"

"And this is Commodore Ammen."

"Laws, is that Dan Ammen?'

The two old maids were ten dollars better off than before the visit, and from the dual laugh which followed the introduction, the Commodore and Ex-President were more highly delighted than they ever were at any of the State receptions given at Washington.

TELEGRAPH ANECDOTES.—A young woman came into a Boston telegraph-office. The inevitable "I want to send a telegram," brought the operator to the window, when, after explaining all the whys and wherefores, she dictated the message while the operator wrote.

When finished, the young woman took the document, scrawled in the operator's business handwriting—the one that "no one but the operator himself could read," examined it critically, pointed disdainfully at a spider-like word, as she asked, "What's that?" crossed a few t's, dotted a few i's, rounded some o's, and finally flung down the message angrily, exclaiming to the wondering operator,—

"John never will be able to read that! I shall have to write it myself!" And she did.

A few months ago a negro went into the telegraph office at Bainbridge, Ga., and said he wanted to send an "expatch" to his girl,

"Very well," said the operator, reaching for a blank, "what do you want to say to her?"

"Now, that's cool," remarked the ebony customer. "I ain't gwine to tell you what I want to say to her; I ain't no fool, I ain't." And he put his quarter back in his vest pocket and marched off.

IT appears that at the Russo-American india rubber factory in St. Petersburg, a specialty is made of the manufacture of air-bags for raising sunken vessels. These bags are generally of a cylindrical form with rounded extremities, about eighteen feet in length, eleven feet in diameter, with a capacity of some 600 cubic feet, and each bag can, it is calculated, raise a weight of sixty tons, though the nominal limit is fifty. These bags are made of three thicknesses of coarse canvas, thoroughly impregnated and saturated with india rubber, and having also layers of the latter material interposed. The valves, &c., are made of copper, and the bag is protected by a coarse net, its weight, when fully furnished, being not far from 1,000 pounds. The efficiency of these bags has been satisfactorily proved by repeated tests.

AT last it has come! In this Empire State, which has hitherto resisted the efforts of woman to obtain a voice in her politics, woman has at last made her way to the polls. At Utica recently, the ladies of the various Christian temperance associations personally served refreshments to candidates and voters—sandwiches, biscuits, cake, pie, crackers, and cheese. At the various polling-places they handed, with their own delicate hands, five thousand seven hundred and twenty-five cups of coffee to politicians and voters. The day was remarkable for the good order that prevailed.—Home Journal.

NOTHING is easier than fault-finding. No talent, no self-denial, no brains, no character are required to set up in the grumbling business. But those who are moved by a genuine desire to do good, have little time for murmuring or complaint.—Robert West.

BILLS PASSED.—House bill making appropriations for the Consular Service of the Government for the year ending June 30, 1879.

On motion the following amendment was added: Every Consular officer shall furnish the Secretary of the Treasury or to such officer of Customs as he may direct, as often as may be required, prices current of all articles of merchandise usually exported to the United States from the port or place in which he is stationed; and authority is hereby vested in the Secretary of the Treasury to require compliance with this provision.

The bill was further amended so as to provide for a Minister Resident to the Argentine Republic at a salary of $7,500, and Charges D'Affairs at Paraguay and Uraguay at $5,000 each, instead of Ministers Resident to the Argentine Republic who should ask to be accredited to Paraguay and Uraguay.

RESOLUTION INTRODUCED.—Davis of West Virginia submitted a preamble and resolution, quoting from the report submitted to Congress by the Secretary of the Treasury in 1871, to the effect that $20,700,988 was due the Government from Collectors of Internal Revenue, not in office, and directing the Secretary to report to the Senate what amount or portion of this sum had since that time been paid to the Government, what amount had been settled by compromise, and what steps had been taken to collect the balance.

To pay John Ray and William L. McMillen the sum of $1,000 each, to reimburse them for expenses incurred in contesting the seat in the Senate for the unexpired term of William P. Kellogg, as Senator from Louisiana for the term ending March 3, 1873.

MISCELLANEOUS.—The Vice-President was authorized to appoint a committee to receive, at New York, the body of late Representative Leonard, and escort it to West Chester, Pennsylvania.

Sargent presented a memorial of the Governor and citizens of California, similar to that presented in the House yesterday by Page, in reference to trespasses on public lands, timber, depredations, prosecutions, etc.

Christianacy, from the Committee on Judiciary, said he was directed by a majority of the Committee to report back the bill to repeal the Bankrupt Law. He said an honest effort had been made in committee, some time past, to so amend the law that it would be satisfactory to the public, but there was such a conflict of opinion it was impossible to agree. Several members of the Committee who did not favor a repeal consented that the bill should be reported without recommendation.

The Vice-President appointed Eustis, Saunders and Conova a Committee on the part of the Senate to meet the remains of Hon. John E. Leonard upon their arrival at New York, and accompany them to the place of interment.

It gives the right to lay cables to both United States citizens and foreigners, subject to certain specified conditions.

THE Legislative, Executive and Judicial Appropriation bill, as reported from the House Committee, proposes the following appropriations for Pacific Coast Mints:

San Francisco—Wages of workmen and adjusters, $275,000; materials and repairs, $87,500; salary of Superintendent, $4,500; Assayer, Melter and Refiner, and Coiner, $3,090 each; Chief Clerk and Cashier, $2,500 each, and four clerks, $1,600 each.

Carson City—Wages, $80,000; material and repairs, $42,500; salaries of officers and clerks, the same as last year.

Following are the items for the San Francisco Sub-Treasurer's office. They show a considerable reduction from the total of last year's appropriation: Assistant Treasurer, $5,500; Cashier, $3,000; Bookkeeper, $2,000; Assistant Cashier and Assistant Bookkeeper, $2,000 each; one clerk, $1,800; and four watchmen, $720 each.

THE Secretary of the Interior has sent to the House, with his endorsement, a letter of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs recommending an appropriation of $250,000 for furnishing farming stock and implements to the Red Cloud and Spotted Tail Sioux, lately removed from Nebraska to the Missouri River.

To the close of March one million silver dollars had been coined. Arrangements are completed under which, during April, the Philadelphia Mint will turn out $1,750,000.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET.

[Quotations, unless otherwise specified, represent receivers' prices in lots, marketed on wharf or from store.]

FLOUR.—The City of Peking sailed on the 1st inst. with heavy stocks for Hongkong and Japan. Superfine stock is greatly depleted. Wheat is higher and firm. Standard extras are by no means plenty; hence the market wears a very firm tone at the advance noted —12½@25c per bbl; whether this advance will be lasting depends upon the game that is going on upon the diplomatic checkerboard in the Old World—keeping the Wheat market excited. The following quotations are understood to be for consigned lots, or round lots from the mill, payable in gold coin; for jobbers' rates, silver, add about 50c.

Superfine, $4 50@$4 75; shipping extras, $5 35@$5 50; standard extras, $5 75@$6 00; Oregon standard extras, $5 25@$5 50.

WHEAT.—Further exciting news from the Old World advanced holders' views, and the largeness of the Flour demand and depleted stock compel millers to enter the market at rising prices. Shippers had necessities also, and the screws are turned on taught. Market closes firm as annexed. We give a general warning to the readers of the daily paper dispatches of war rumors; remember that it is not always easy to discriminate between rumors which are put in circulation from a diplomatic desire to produce certain results, and those which are guesses, with some basis of truth, and that the best of them are but guesses. Bismarck and Gortschakoff do not supply the cable with its news.

We quote good to choice milling, $200 @$2 05; superfine, $1 95@$1 97½; shipping, $1 90; low grades, $1 80@$1 87½.

BARLEY.—There is more sellers, and $1 30 for feed from first hands is hardly possible.

We quote bay feed, $1 25@$1 30; coast feed, $1 15@$1 25 (all gold); brewing nominal—$1 30@$1 40.

CORN.—Market, as reported by us last Friday, hinged upon Mexican orders; these orders were cut short by high ruling values, and a large scale of deliveries from the South, together with continued very light milling demand, caused a large accumulation of stock, and a warehouse movement, held in anticipation of further increased Mexican demand later on. Sales effected marked a daily decline. White not very plenty and held pretty firm, with lighter inquiry. Small round yellow more plenty, and in largest Mexican demand. The weekly deliveries contained many lots of poor, damp and otherwise unsaleable Corn at top quotations. The steamer Newbern, for Mexico, carried 1,215 ctls. Quotations as follows. Stock large, holders firm:

We quote large yellow, $1 50@$1 52½; large white, $1 80; small round yellow, $1 72½@$1 75; white, $1 90@$2 00.

OATS.—Some holders are anxious to quit stock, and the market is quotable lower, dull and weak.

We quote milling at $1 55@$1 60; good to choice feed, $1 45@$1 50; ordinary feed, $1 30@$1 40.

WOOL.—The spring clip is set down to be ¼@¾c less than 1877 spring shearing. Some are sanguine to put the figure one-half less than 1877; this, we think, is an exaggeration. Northern California sheep are doing well as was expected. Sales of fall are making; southern, 8@11c; mountain, 12@ 14c; Colusa, quotable at 12½@13½c—all as to condition. The ship Springwood carried 28,023 lbs. foreign wool to Liverpool. In our next issue we will give State total fall clip.

HOPS.—There is little or no business doing; nominal quotations—California, 6@ 8c; Oregon, 5@7c.

DAIRY PRODUCE.—Butter sold very low. Dairymen are now packing in kegs, and the daily deliveries lessened; stock getting smaller, and prices undoubtedly will go a trifle higher; but there is large visible supplies. Cheese more plentiful. Eggs—the movement for the past fortnight was larger than any like period in the history of this market. The Jewish Lent draws near, and the consumption will continue heavy; advices indicate large receipts from all sections.

We quote: California choice fresh roll Butter, 21@22c; fair to good roll, 17@20c; Cheese—California, 14@15c; Western Cheese, 18@20c ₰ lb; California Eggs, 22@23c ₰ doz; Eastern, 18@19c.

PROVISIONS.—Hog product in the East is in larger supply than ever before known; prices very low and our market is well supplied, and the consumption is very large.

We quote: California plain Hams, 10@ 11c; Eastern Hams, carload lots, 10@11½c, as to brand; California Lard, 10@12c; Eastern do, 13½@14c; California Bacon, 11½@12½c; Eastern Bacon, 11@12c; California Smoked Beef, $9 00@$11 00 ₰ bbl; Beef, $8 50@$10 50 ₰ bbl; hf bbl, $4 50@ $6 00; Pork, ₰ bbl, $22 00@$24 00.

SALT AND SMOKED FISH.—The Prices Current says: Exports to Great Britain quite liberal; ship Springwood, for Liverpool, carried 15,570 cases; ship British Envoy, 2,181 cases—all sales previously reported. Further sales this season's catch are making, but sellers have advanced their ideas, and buyers are offish; we hear of sales at $1 40, delivered alongside at Astoria; crown brand, a favorite mark, $1 32½@$1 35, at fisheries, is the more general rate, with not late sales lower, and holders appear very firm in their demand. The run on the Columbia river so far is good; promises a large catch.

Salmon in bbl, $9 00@$11 00; hf bbl, $6 00; all as to quality, where caught and grade of fish. Salmon, 1-lb tins, $1 32½@$1 35; Cod, Pacific, bdls, 6¼@6¾c ₰ lb; Cod, in cases, 6¼@7c; Cod, boneless, Eastern, 9@10c ₰ lb; Georges' Cod, 9c ₰ lb; Mackerel, hf bbls, No. 1, $10 00@$11 00; do, hf bbls, No. 2, $8 00@$10 00; do, kits, No. 1, $2 25@$2 50; do, kits, No. 2, $2 00@$2 25.

POULTRY.—The scale of receipts (live stock) for the past two or three weeks ran lighter than for any like period in two years. Country stock is very much depleted; market is likely to tone strong.

We quote: Turkeys, dressed, ₰ lb, 23@26c; Turkeys, gobblers, 22@24c; Hens, ₰ doz, $7 50@ $9 50; Roosters, ₰ doz, $9 00@$11 00; Broilers, ₰ doz, $7 00@$8 00; Ducks, ₰ doz, $9 00@$11 00; Geese, ₰ pair, $2 50@$3 00.

FRUIT, GREEN.—The supply of Apples is light; market tones strong. Dealers having choice stock about make their own price

We quote: Apples, ₰ box, $1 25@$3 00; Bananas, $1 50@$6 00 ₰ bunch; Limes, Mexican, ——; Limes, California, $5 00@$6 00 ₰ M; California Oranges, $20 00@$35 00— firm.

FRUIT, DRIED.—The market as a whole has a dull tone. Choice sliced Apples, choice unpeeled Peaches and nice fat California Plums, however, have a fair inquiry, and can be disposed of at quotations annexed. But after leaving these fancies we find much complaint in the trade in effecting sales at any fair price.

We quote: Apples, quartered, at 3½@5½c ₰ lb; Apples, sliced, 6@8c; Peaches, 7@9c; Plums, California, pitted, 14@17c; Plums, Oregon, 11@14c; Raisins, $1 00@$2 00.

NUTS.—Almonds are in small demand, and remaining stock in first hands are urgently offered at annexed quotations.

Almonds, 8c for hard and 14@16c for soft shell; Brazil, 12½@14c; Filberts, 12½@ 15c; Hickory, 10@11c; Pecan, 10@14c; Chile Walnuts, 10@11c; California Walnuts 8@10c; California Peanuts, 5@7c ₰ lb; Cocoanuts, $5 00@$8 00 ₰ hundred

POTATOES AND ONIONS.—Potatoes—The market position is good, but not so buoyant as some would have us believe; high prices go into every corner for supplies, and then consumption sums up smaller; latterly deliveries large. Onions abundant, poor quality and extremely dull; choice wanted, $1 25.

We quote: Potatoes, Early Rose, ₰ 100 lbs, $2 25@$2 50; other grades, $2 00@ $2 25; Oregon, ₰ 100 lbs, $2 00@$2 15. Onions, Silver Skins, ₰ 100 lbs, 50@90c.

BEANS.—Jobbers are holding prices quite firm.

We quote as follows (gold coin): Bayo, $4 00 @$4 25; small White, $2 75@$3 00; Pea, $3 00@$3 25; Red, ——; large Butter, $2 90 @$3 00; medium do, $2 65@$2 85; Limas, $3 75; Pink, $4 00@$4 25.

MEATS AND LIVE STOCK.—Beef little more plentiful; hence easier prices. Mutton abundant and weak at the decline noted. Lamb steady. Veal not plenty.

We quote: Beef, first quality, 7½@8c; second do, 6½@7¾c; third do, 4@6c; Veal, small, 8 @9c; do large, 6@7c; Mutton, 4@6c; Lamb, 10@15c; Hogs, as in quality, 6@7c ₰ lb.

CORNMEAL.—Fine kinds, for the table, 2¾@3c ₰ lb; coarse kinds for feed; $36 00 @$37 00 ₰ ton.

HIDES, SKINS AND TALLOW.—Dry Hides, over 16 lbs, 16c; Dry Hides, Kip and Calf, 12½@13c; wet salted, 7¼@8c. Plump, heavy Steer, 8½@9c. Sheep Skins; dull, 30 @90cas to quality. Tallow, 6@7c.

BEESWAX.—Quotable at 30@32c; scarce

HAY AND STRAW.—We quote hay $12 00@ $16 00 ₰ ton; market steady. Straw, 40@75c.

BAGS AND BAGGING.—We quote: Machine-sewed, 22x36, 10¼c; Hand-sewed, 22x36, 10¾@11c; Standard Gunnies, 13@14c; Wool Sacks, 4 lbs, 50@52½c; Wool Sacks, 3¼ lbs, 47½@50c.

Incurring a Tremendous Risk.

They incur a tremendous risk who sojourn or emigrate to reside in districts where malarial disease is prevalent, without medicinal means of fortifying their systems against the periodic scourge. The danger to bilious subjects, and to those who lack bodily stamina, is particularly serious. A preventive and curative agent of known anti-malarial efficacy should be frequently used and constantly kept at hand by such persons; and on none can they rely with such certainty of protection and aid as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This grand specific roots out every vestige of the malarial poison from the system, and endows it with an amount of vital activity and repelling power that nullifies the influence of miasma. It also prevents and remedies disorders of the stomach, bowels and liver, which are particularly prevalent in malarious regions, and is an incomparable general invigorant.
